Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser Attorney Named to Long Island Business News Who's Who in IP Law

Keith Weltsch receives prestigious recognition

Garden City, NY -- Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser, P.C., a leading Intellectual Property Law firm, has announced that the Long Island Business News (LIBN) recent list of "Who's Who in IP Law" includes Keith Weltsch, an Associate at the firm.

Keith Weltsch received his B.A. in History from Pennsylvania State University and his J.D. from George Washington University. He was admitted to the Maryland State Bar. Mr. Weltsch was a Trademark Examining Attorney at the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. He specializes in U.S. and foreign trademark prosecution and clearance; experienced in oppositions and cancellations before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, conducting settlement negotiations and preparing consent and coexistence agreements relating to trademark litigation.

Weltsch is quoted in LIBN, saying "The use of social media presents a multitude of new marketing opportunities for law firms handling an ever-changing, cutting edge area of the law such as intellectual property. For a boutique practice like Scully Scott Murphy & Presser that handles the intellectual property needs of our clients, we often need legal services outside of our speciality. Many of our attorneys belong to LinkedIn and are "connected" to others in the legal profession that they have attended law school with, or have met in everyday practice. This form of social media allows our attorneys to stay in touch with fellow lawyers to make appropriate referrals to our clients."

"We're very pleased that Keith Weltsch has been listed by LIBN in Who's Who in IP Law," said Peter Bernstein, Partner at Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser, P.C. "With his education, experience and established success, Keith has demonstrated that he belongs in the company of these highly qualified professionals."
