Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser Names Patent Agent

Ph.D. Molecular Biologist Joins Patent Law Firm

Garden City, NY -- Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser, a leading Intellectual Property Law firm, has announced that Lynn Russo, a Ph.D. Biologist and Molecular Geneticist, has joined the firm as a Patent Agent. Prior to joining Scully Scott, she was a Patent Agent at law firm Darby and Darby in Manhattan. Russo is a resident of Massapequa, New York.

"We're very pleased that Lynn Russo has joined Scully Scott," said Peter Bernstein, Partner at Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser. "Her training and experience in the fields of biology and genetics will add to our successful practice in those areas." Bernstein added, "Russo is a strong addition to our already deep technology team, allowing us to grow our client base and meet the increasing demand for our legal services."

Dr. Russo will practice in all aspects of preparing and prosecuting patent applications in the U.S. and worldwide, as well as assist in patent portfolio management, opinion work, due diligence and invalidity analyses, and litigation. Her fields of expertise include biotechnology, genetics, molecular biology, cancer biology, immunology, microbiology, biochemistry, microarray technology, and pharmaceuticals.

Dr. Russo received her B.A. in Biology from the University of California in Riverside, her Ph.D. in Biology/Molecular Genetics from the University of California in San Diego, and her J.D. from Fordham University School of Law in New York.

Dr. Russo is registered to practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office.
