Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser, P.C. Names New Associate

Molecular Biologist is Promoted at Patent Law Firm

Garden City, NY -- Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser, P.C., a leading Intellectual Property Law firm, has announced that Zhuang Yuan, a Molecular Biologist, has been named an Associate with the firm. Prior to his promotion, Yuan was a Patent Agent with Scully Scott. Prior to that, he was a Research Assistant at Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory.

"We're very pleased to have named Zhuang Yuan an associate of the firm," said Paul Esatto, Senior Partner at Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser, P.C. "His experience in the fields of molecular biology, biochemistry, and immunology have contributed to our successful practice in those areas." Esatto added, "Yuan continues to enhance our already strong technology team. He is a big help to us in meeting the growing demand for our legal services."

Yuan's practice is concentrated in the areas of molecular biology, microbiology, biochemistry, immunology, cell biology and microscopy, genetics and developmental biology, plant biology, physiology and neuroscience. His experiences also include patent prosecution and infringement, validity and patentability opinions.

Yuan received his B.S. in Physiology and Biophysics from Peking University in China. He received his M.S. in Biological Sciences from the City College of New York. He received his J.D. from St. John's University School of Law.

Yuan is admitted to the Connecticut State Bar, passed the New York State Bar examination, and is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.
